

365Stories

17. Come to the Father

17. Come to the Father

During the civil war in the United States, between 1861 and 1865, the White House, residence of President Abraham Lincoln, every day was overwhelmed by people who wanted to see him. They were mainly representatives of the government, of parliament, generals, diplomats but also a whole world anxious to have an interview. They were hoping to find favor for them or for a family member or a friend.

A secretary took their name and returned saying :
- you must wait for awhile, the President cannot see you right away.

In the center of the crowd, a small boy had slipped through, running in front of the Soldier, waving his hand at the secretaries. He passed in front of them and, having turned the door knob, he entered without knocking into the office of President Lincoln.

The people who were waiting showed their disapproval seeing this child who entered this way, instead of waiting his turn like them. But one of the secretaries said to them :

- But this is Ted, son of the President. And his father had given the order : "Never forbid Ted to come to me."

We also, have the privilege free access to our Heavenly Father, our God, creator of the universe, He who gave His son Jesus Christ, to save us and give us life. Yes, because Jesus shed his blood for us to pay the consequences of our sin ! Don't wait, come to Him ! We have much more than the President of the United States !

“For through Him we both have our access in one Spirit to the Father.” says the Word of God in the Epistle to the Ephesians chapter 2 verse 18.

So, don't wait, come to our Father, the door is open, He is waiting of us!