

365Stories

32. The Door was marked with blood

32. The Door was marked with Blood.

During a cruel and bloody war, a commander made in the presense of his men the vow was to massacre the entire population of a certain village

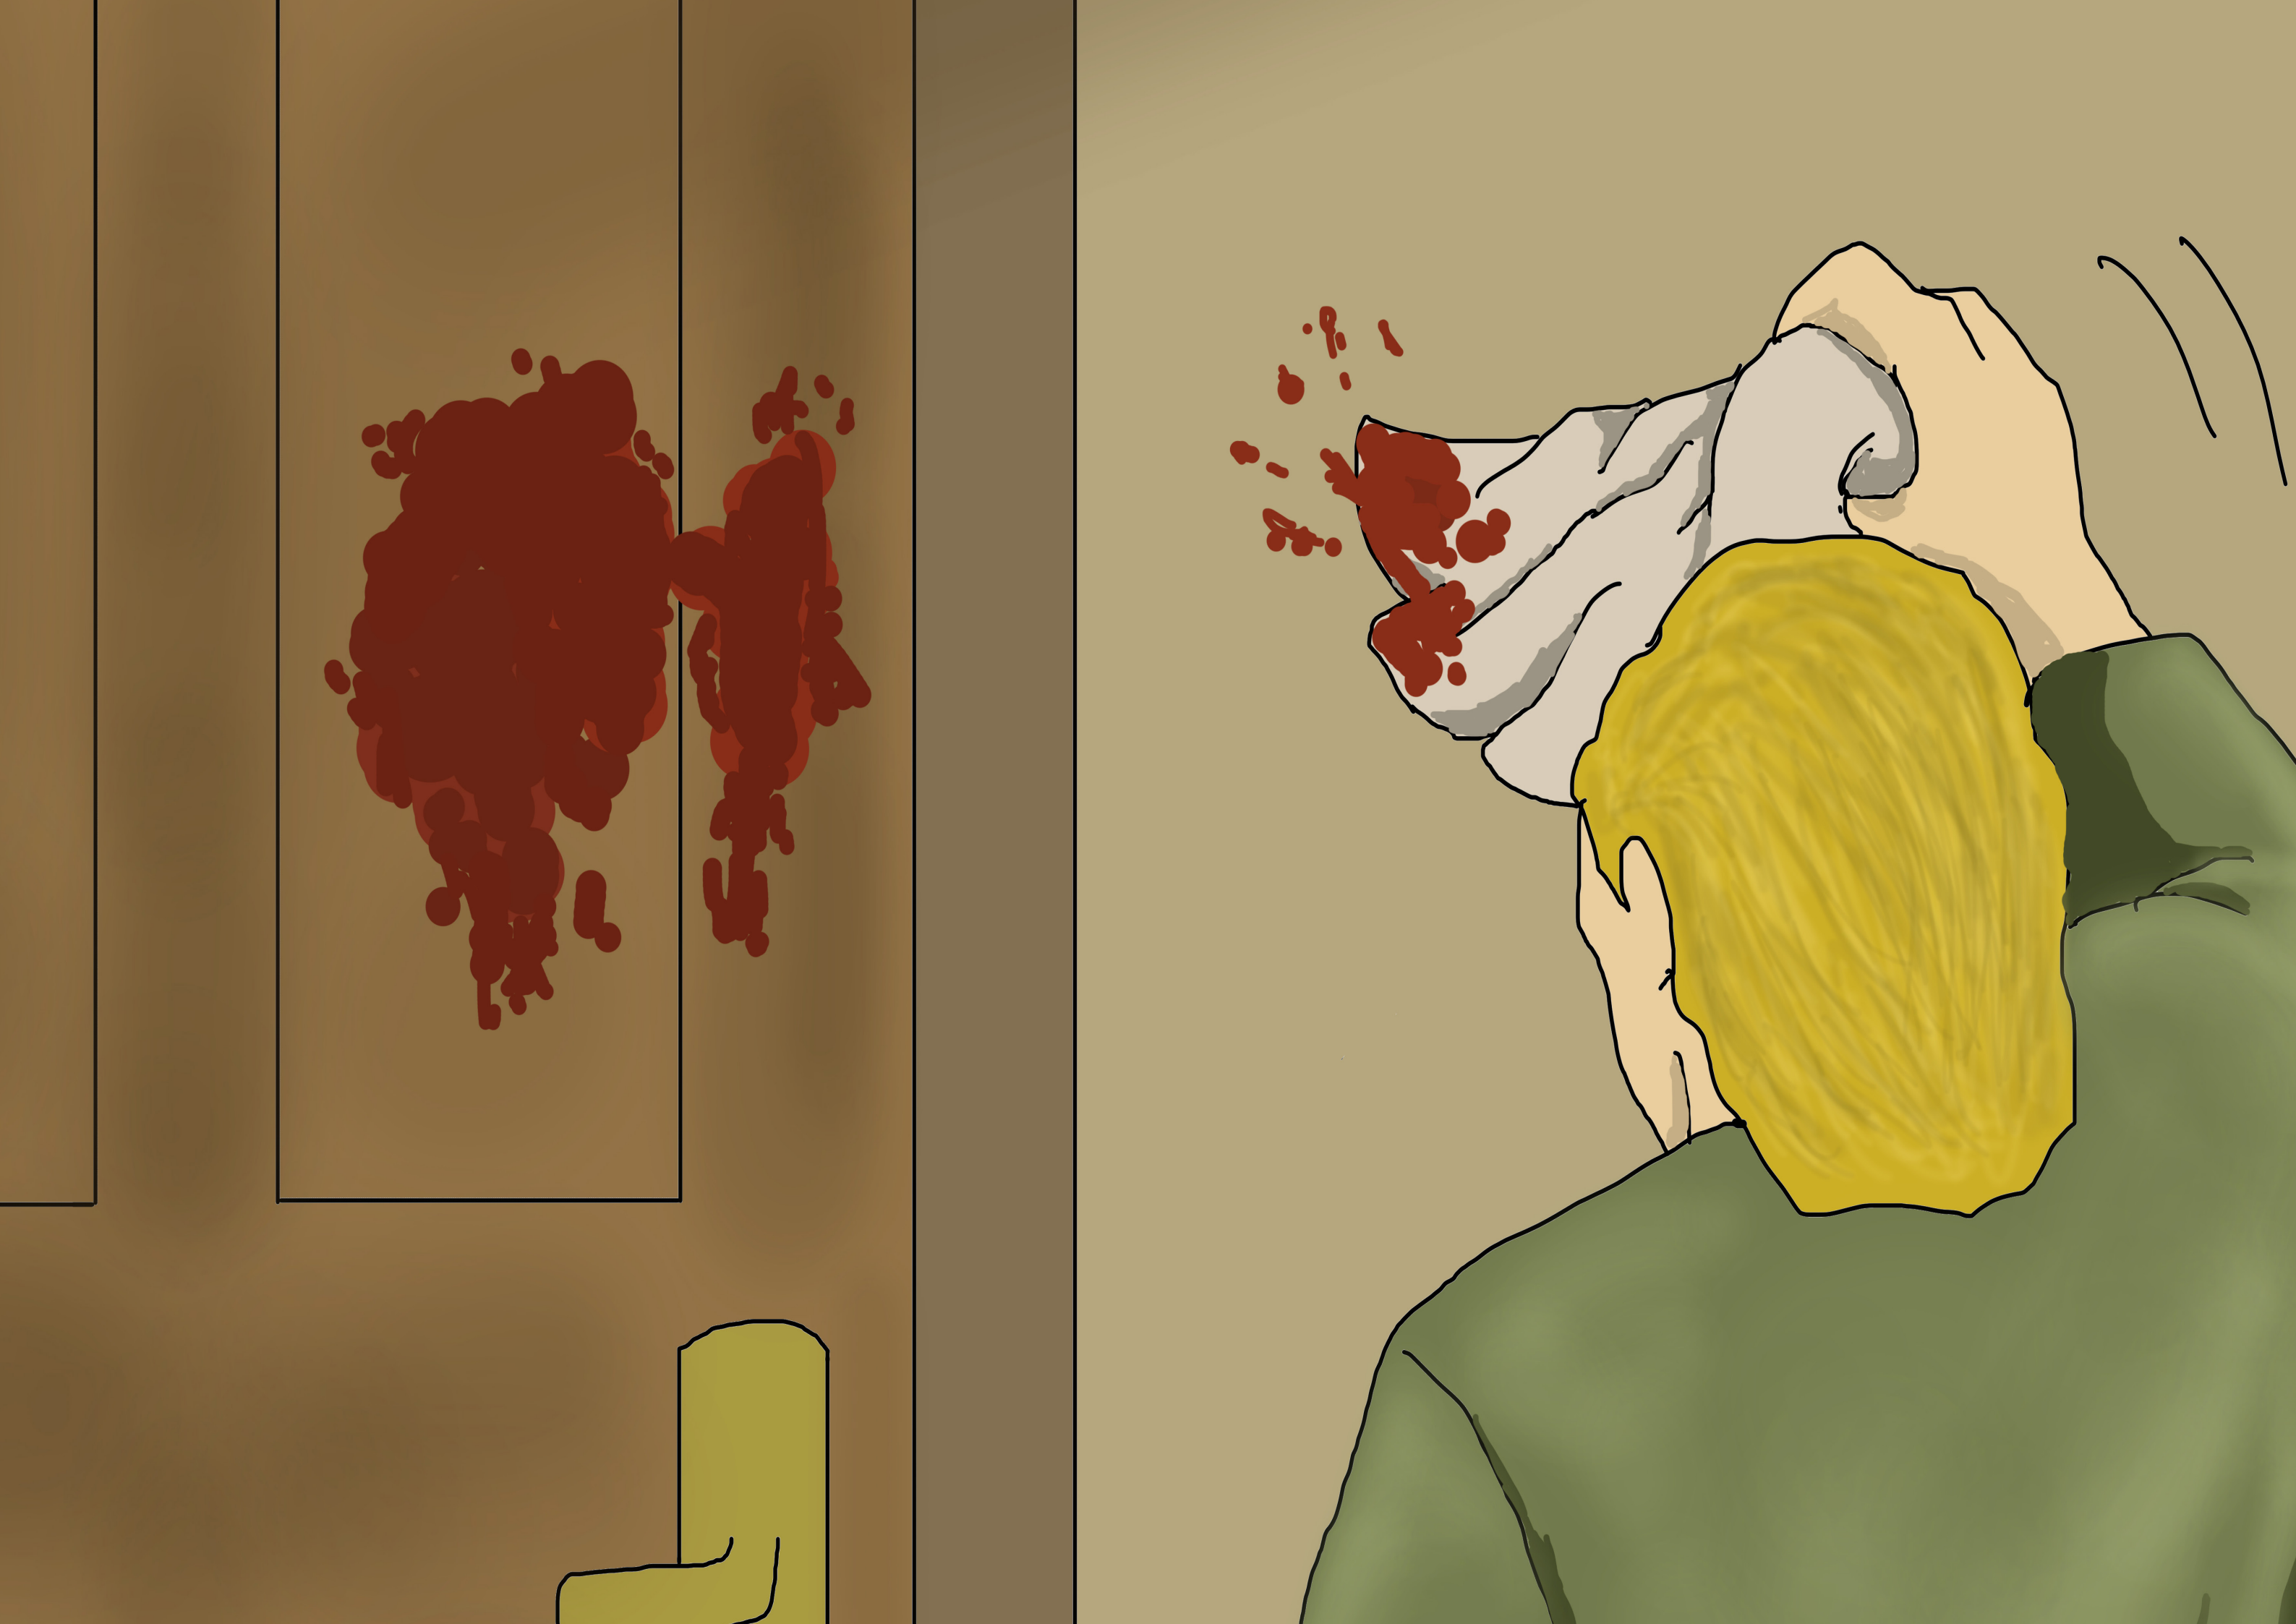

Soon these bloodthirsty brutes were dropped of on the defenseless population.

Now it happened that a fugitive was watching a group of soldiers, while the latter were entering

Passing all the occupants with the edge of the sword.

On leaving, one of them dipped a rag in a puddle of blood and splattered the door testifying this to anyone who would follow him after what had happened inside this house !

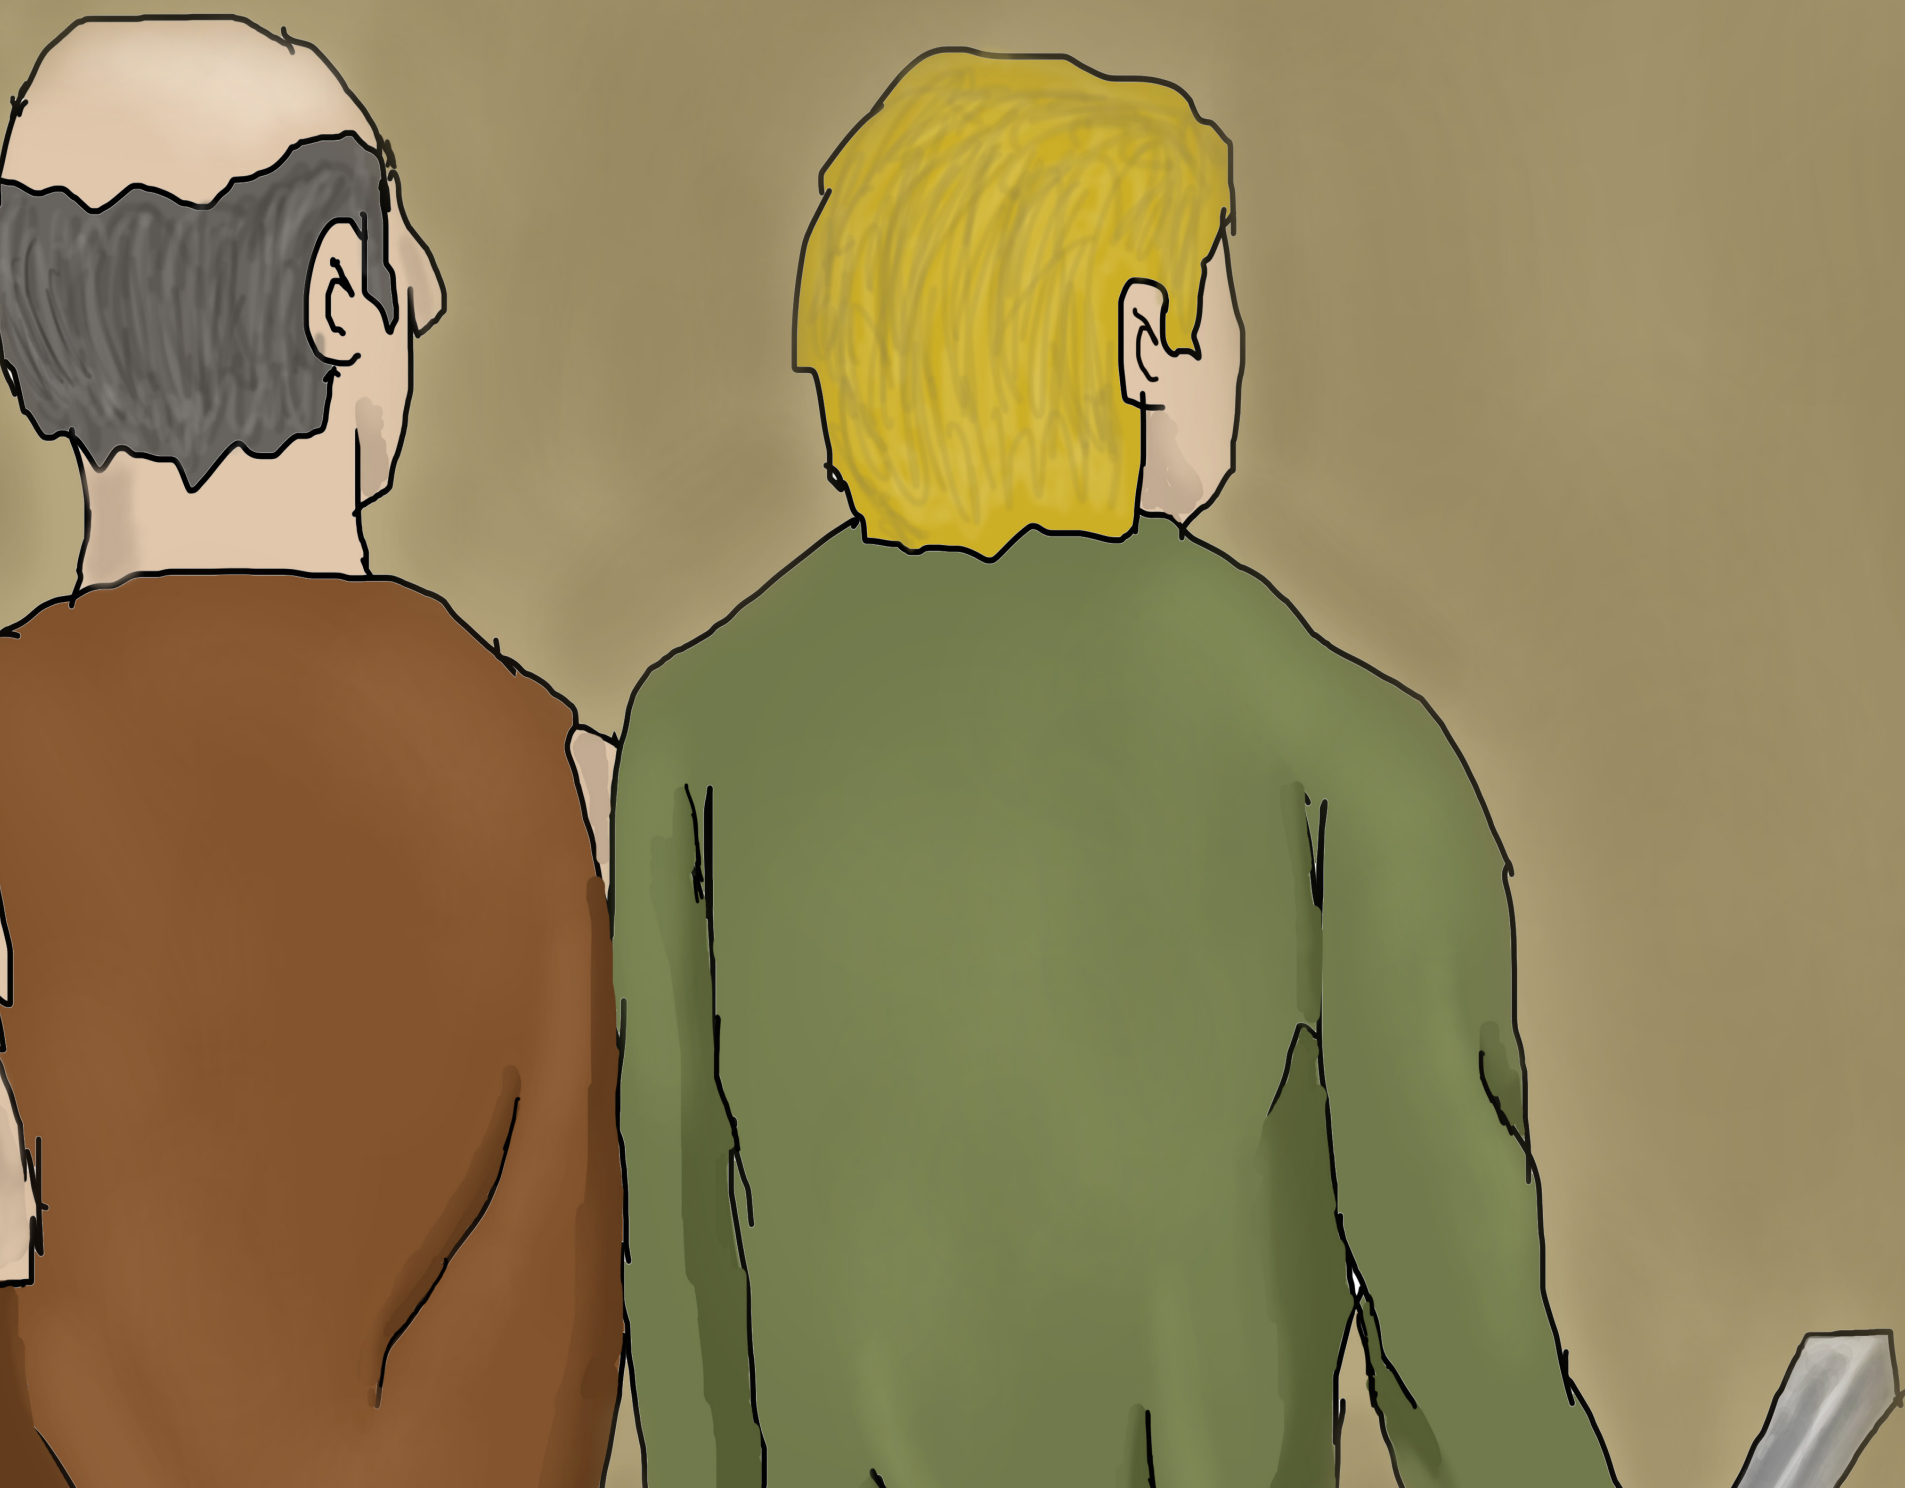

As fast as his legs could carry him, the fugitif ran toward a large house in the center of the town where many of his friends were hiding. And, without , without taking a breath, they told what they had seen. tells them what he had seen.

As in a flash, it appeared to them what to do.

A goat was in the yard. He was immediately killed and the blood was put on the door. No sooner than they had closed it, a group of soldiers rushed into the street. When they arrived at the door marked in blood, they did not want to enter into the house. Death, they thought, has already entered here and has done its work. Thus, while all around them the massacre continued... All those that were sheltered from the door marked in blood were saved. Is it not a reminder of what happened a long time ago in the Old Testament ?

-when I see the blood, I will pass over you, said the Lord God to His People.

-Yes, Jesus Christ our Passover was sacrificed for us! His shed blood has retained the sword of divine judgement far from anyone, by faith. Find refuge in Him ! Come to Him...He paid it all for you to be free ! So you might have Eternal Life ! And, He loves you, He holds His hand out to you !