

365 Stories

50. The castaway

50. The castaway

The only survivor of a shipwreck was thrown
By the waves on a small desert island. He prayed that God would come to his rescue and each day, he watch the horizon

To see if you would have help. But nothing seemed to come... Exhausted, he finally decided to build a little cabin of wood to protect himself.

And in order to leave some belongings.

But one day, after being gone in search of food, he found his hut in flames. All was lost.

He was sad and full of anger. He was sad and full of anger.

Early, the next morning, he woke up by the noise of a boat that approached the island.

It came to help, but

__How did you know that I was here ?

Asked the surprised man to the helpers.

__We have seen your smoke signal, they answered.

It is easy to give into discouragement when things go wrong. Yet, we should never give up hope. God is in charge of our lives, even in the middle of hardships and suffering. Remember, the next time that your little house is burning, is it not maybe the smoke signal that would bring the Grace of God !.